

Fast Company covers "Just Your Typical New Mexico Image Recognition Startup Spun Off From A Government Lab"

July 30, 2015

Just Your Typical New Mexico Image Recognition Startup Spun Off From A Government Lab

Far from Silicon Valley, Descartes Labs aims to turn a national research facility's AI research into new ways of understanding the world...The company in question is Descartes Labs, and there's a very good reason why it's in Los Alamos. It aims to commercialize image-recognition technology developed at the Los Alamos National Laboratory (LANL) under the supervision of Steven Brumby, Johnson's cofounder, who was accompanying him on his subway trip.

By Harry McCracken, Source: FastCompany

Los Alamos National Laboratory

www.lanl.gov

(505) 667-7000

Los Alamos, NM

Operated by Los Alamos National Security, LLC for the Department of Energy's NNSA

